

200 ATTENDING CONVENTION OF LUTHER LEAGUE

Approximately 200 members and delegates attended the opening session of the 11th annual convention of the Luther League of the Central Pennsylvania synod of the United Lutheran Church in America at the Lutheran Theological seminary Wednesday evening at 7:30 o'clock. The convention will close Friday evening.

A sermon, "Frontiers Unlimited in Fellowship With God," was delivered by the Rev. Dr. L. Ralph Taber, pastor of the Luther Place Memorial Lutheran church, Washington, D. C., at Wednesday evening's session. He said members should "accept God, become acquainted with Him and take action for Him."

Ervin Hamme, of Abbottstown, led the hymn singing which opened the first session. Mrs. Pearl Smith, organist of St. John's Lutheran church, Abbottstown, played "Hour of Devotion," F. G. Rathbun, as an organ prelude.

Hold Picnic Lunch
"Frontiers Unlimited" is the theme for the convention. The Rev. Samuel R. Frank, Manchester, is the convention chaplain.

This morning's session opened at 9 o'clock and included an address, "Welcome and Mixer," by Margaret McFalls, Altoona. Various reports were given and following the adjournment the delegates hiked to Spangler's Spring for a picnic lunch.

This afternoon's meeting was scheduled to open at 3 o'clock with Pauline Baker, first vice president, presiding. Following addresses of welcome from the seminary and synod, the response was to be given by John G. Bernheisel, York, president. Miss Louise Marks, a former Intermediate secretary, was to speak on "The Luther League of America."

Banquet Tonight
This evening at 6:30 o'clock a "Forty-Niner" banquet will be held at St. James Lutheran church. The Rev. Edw. E. Korte, student pastor at Penn State college, will be the speaker. Mr. Bernheisel will preside as toastmaster.

Election of officers and delegates to the National convention in Roanoke, Va., will feature the meeting Friday morning which will open at 9 o'clock. An Intermediate luncheon will be held Friday noon at the Shetter House and will be in charge (Please Turn to Page 8)

TWO TO GET JR. R.C. TRAINING

Robert Moser, Gettysburg high school, and Fred Brandt, of East Berlin high school, Adams county's delegates to the annual American Junior Red Cross leadership training center, will leave Monday for ten days' training at Camp Bynden Wood at Wernersville. Pa. Moser is president of the Adams County Junior Red Cross Council and Brandt is first vice president.

Bynden Wood, one of the eleven training centers to be held throughout the country this year, will bring together from seven states some 160 high school students who are members or potential members of the Junior Red Cross Council in their schools.

The delegates will learn the history and philosophy of the Red Cross and obtain an understanding of how Junior Red Cross members in schools participate in service programs on the national and international level. Adult specialists will conduct demonstrations and classes in Red Cross courses which may be included in the school curriculum, such as home nursing and first aid. Opportunity will be provided for delegates to earn their water safety certificates.

Special emphasis will be placed on organization of Junior Red Cross Councils.

The Junior Red Cross at Bynden Wood will be hosts to 20 visiting school administrators from nine countries, brought to the United States as guests of the American Junior Red Cross.

Produce Movie On Cherry Processing

The Lane Studio, under the supervision of George Poisel, director of public relations for the Knouse Foods, Inc., is producing a 16 mm sound and color motion picture on cherry processing "from the orchard to the can."

The picture is being filmed in the orchards around Orrtanna and in the former Orrtanna Canning company plant. It will be released for educational purposes to colleges, high schools and service clubs throughout the United States early in January.

80th Birthday

Mrs. John M. McClell, Fairfield, today observes her 80th birthday anniversary. A resident of Fairfield for more than half a century, she is the mother of thirteen children, ten of whom are still living. Her children surprised her at a buffet-supper Sunday at her home in observance of her anniversary.

ADAMS COUNTY $7,920 SHORT IN BOND DRIVE

Adams county is within $7,920 of its $183,741 quota in the "Opportunity Drive" of United States Savings Bonds, Edmund W. Thomas, county chairman, announced today.

Sales reported and processed up to date total $175,821 in Adams county Chairman Thomas said. This may not constitute the total amount of purchases by Adams county during the drive, it was explained, because some issuing agencies do not process their sales every day.

Saturday is the closing date of the "Opportunity Drive."

"I feel confident that Adams county will reach its quota," Thomas said, "but I would like to urge all members of the committee to make a last day's effort to sell as many bonds as possible before Saturday. If each committeeman makes a sale or two our goal will be reached."

"I also urge all issuing agencies, such as banks and post offices, to process their sales and submit their report before the closing hour Saturday. All reports postmarked July 16 will be included in the drive and will be credited to each county so reporting. Failure to process sales by Saturday's mail deadline will count against Adams county," Thomas added.

CRIPPS ORDERS IMPORT SLASH

London, July 14 (AP)—Britain today sliced 25 per cent off her buying from the world's dollar areas for this year.

Sir Stafford Cripps, chancellor of the Exchequer, told the House of Commons Britain's imports from the United States and other dollar areas would be limited to $1,200,000,000. In 1948 Britain spent $1,500,000,000 on imports.

Cripps announced a cut in purchases of U. S. tobacco. He also said the sugar ration would be lowered from 10 to eight ounces weekly and the recently rationed candy would go back on ration Aug. 14. The weekly candy ration will be four ounces per person.

Cripps knocked off $80,000,000 of the $44,000,000 originally set aside for the purchase of tobacco.

He said this would mean a reduction of about five per cent to British users. Cigarettes already are scarce here and lines in front of tobacco stores are a common sight.

ONE KILLED AS PLANE CRASHES

Dayton, O., July 14 (AP)—At least one person was killed today in the crash of a twin-engine "flying boxcar" here, Wright-Patterson air force base officials reported.

They said from "three to six" persons were injured.

The Army cargo plane crashed into a parking lot fence as it was making an emergency landing because of a fire aboard. Army officials reported.

10 ADAMS BOYS LEAVE TODAY FOR CAMP PENN

Ten Adams county boys selected by a Citizens' committee went to Indiantown Gap by bus this morning to join hundreds of other Pennsylvania youths for the first session of Camp Penn, state-sponsored camp for boys.

The boys left from in front of the court house at 9:45 o'clock in a bus driven by Alvin Bupp, George Forney, Gettysburg high school coach and counsellor at the camp, was sent here to escort the group to camp.

The county boys include: Richard Eugene Carter, Gettysburg; Freddie Fissel, Orrtanna R. 1; Richard Charles Harriel, 700 South Washington street; Eugene Ira Hoffman, Gettysburg R. 2; Paul E. Kerns, Prince street, Littlestown; Sidney M. Lock, 42 York street; Clyde McClain, Fairfield; Harry Bender Miller, Jr., Lincolnway east, New Oxford; Luther Paul Pottorff, Hanover R. 4, and John L. Slothoff, New Oxford R. 1.

An eleven boy who had been selected for the camp failed to report this morning. He was Clarence Richard Thompson, West High street. If camp facilities permit, one of the alternate selections from this county may take his place.

Before they left Gettysburg they were given physical examinations by Drs. C. G. Crist and Harrison F. Harbach, Jr.

Two Weeks of Fun
Indiantown Gap, Pa., July 14 (AP)—This huge military reservation became a veritable "boys town" today.

Eager-eyed teen-agers of all sizes and weights tumbled gleefully from bus and train in anticipation of two full weeks of outdoor fun.

The new arrivals lined up for medical and dental inspections and then went through the business of getting bedded down. Each arrival was given a complete outfit of camping clothes and toilet articles.

The summer camp, named Camp Penn, is the state's first venture of its kind. It is authorized by the 1949 legislature to benefit boys otherwise unable to go to camp. A $600,000 appropriation was earmarked to foot the bill the first two years.

Duff To Speak
The camp is expected to play host to about 2,500 boys between 14 and 16 years of age. A force of 150 counselors is supervising the jam-packed activity calendar.

Ball games, swimming and sight-seeing were in order today with registration of new arrivals going full swing.

The camp opens formally tomorrow morning with Gov. James H. Duff, original backer of the camp, slated to give the welcoming address.

A football program highlights tomorrow night's program with at least three prominent coaches scheduled to speak. They include Tom Hamilton, former Navy coach and present athletic director at the University of Pittsburgh; Bob Higgins, retired Penn State coach, and John Da Grossa, former head coach at Holy Cross.

Teeter Declares Council Has Power, Duty To Make Decisions

Relative to the statement published in The Gettysburg Times Wednesday evening by Councilman Wilbur J. Stallsmith, chairman of the council's safety committee, District Attorney Daniel E. Teeter today had this to say:

"I do not feel that I should interfere with matters and decisions to be made by the borough council, which I feel has the power and the duty to make any decisions on this subject, and which has general knowledge of all the facts."

The article referred to probable council action on the recent raid at the carnival in which Chief of Police Robert C. Harpster was revealed as the person who leased the land for the visiting show.

Stallsmith's statement said that the Burgess has control over the police and that the Burgess and the District Attorney "have not submitted any evidence or recommendations to our committee."

VFW Firing Squad Officers Announced

Members of Post No. 15, Veterans of Foreign Wars, held a regular meeting at the post home on Carlisle street, Wednesday night, and transacted routine business.

Commander Arthur Roth announced the following officers were elected at a reorganization meeting of the firing squad: Commander, Edgar Bowling; vice commander, Charles Weaver; secretary, Donald Hubbard; and treasurer, Francis Wisotzky. The color guard participated in a parade at Union Bridge, Md., Wednesday evening.

Reports were heard for the bonus committee and civic improvement committee. Commander Roth won the door prize.

LITTLESTOWN THREE RESIGN AS TEACHERS IN JOINT DISTRICT

At the monthly meeting of the executive board of the Littlestown School Jointure Wednesday evening in the office of Supervising Principal Paul E. King the class schedule for the coming school year was set up. It was also decided to have a special class for the below average group, those pupils who are unable to pass Junior-Senior entrance examinations. Classes will be established for reading, writing, citizenship and general arithmetic. The same pupils will also be enrolled in health, physical education, shop, home economics, music, art and such subjects as require no special skill.

Resignations of the following teachers in the jointures were accepted with regret: Gladys V. Rebert and Kathryn W. Kunkel, Mt. Joy township, and Mary Lehman Raphael in Littlestown borough.

The report of Prof. King was accepted as presented and current bills were approved for payment. The school calendar for the coming year was adopted.

Elet Teeter As Attorney
Daniel E. Teeter was elected as attorney for the jointure.

In the absence of the treasurer, James R. Strevig, his report was read by Secretary Henry E. Waltman. The report follows: Tuition receipts, $12,838; for capital outlay, $6,985 and from other sources, $38 or a total receipts, $19,824; expenditures: General control, $214; cost of instruction, $10,973; Auxiliary agencies, $1,425; co-ordinate activities, $292; operation of plant, $483; maintenance of plant, $201; fixed charges, $2,135.10; and capital outlay, $4,449.16; total expenditures, $20,174.85.

The meeting was in charge of H. Allen Walker, president. Those present in addition to Walker were: Willis Waybright, George Worley, Luther Hess, Clayton Harget, Lloyd E. Crouse, Luther W. Ritter, Paul E. King and Henry E. Waltman.

Says District Costs Low
Following the meetings of the executive board and the monthly meetings of the boards of Littlestown, Mt. Joy, Germany and Union townships, in the Littlestown high school, there was a joint meeting of the four boards presided over by the President H. Allen Walker.

Supervising Principal King explained the advantages of the joint operation of the school system and (Please Turn to Page 7)

Can't Act On "News Items"

Burgess C. A. Heiges, head of the police department and Chief of Police Harpster's superior, today told The Gettysburg Times that he had no statement to make.

"No charges have been made to me against Chief Harpster," the Burgess declared. "Nothing has been presented to me by the district attorney or anyone else, and until such time as I get such information, I will take no steps."

The Burgess said that neither he nor the borough council could act on "news items."

Harpster was reported still out of town on vacation. The Burgess said he had "two or three weeks" of vacation due him. He said he did not know where he was or when he would return.

ATTY. TAYLOR DELIVERS TALK AT BIGLERVILLE

Attorney Leighton C. Taylor, of Bendersville, was the speaker at Wednesday evening's meeting of the Biglerville Business club held at the high school. He lauded the club for its initiative and enterprise and congratulated it on its program of activities.

Speaking on national affairs, Mr. Taylor declared that the United States Congress is considering legislation that "requires the utmost consideration, judgment and good sense."

He said that the United States had "maneuvered itself into a position of world leadership and we face grave decisions on national and international affairs, such as the ratification of the North Atlantic Pact, whether to increase or decrease appropriations for the Marshall Plan, federal aid to schools, socialized medicine, renewing of reciprocal trade agreements, the application of the recommendations of the Hoover Commission on government reorganization and displaced persons legislation."

Need Statesmen
To make such momentous decisions Mr. Taylor believes that "only men of the highest caliber should be chosen, for they represent hundreds of thousands of people and shape the destiny of a nation."

He added that "it is a travesty on statesmanship when a person entirely unqualified for the job is allowed to become seated in congress."

Mr. Taylor also firmly advocated the instilling into school children "greater knowledge of our heritage."

M'SHERRYSTOWN FIREMEN PLAN PARADE JULY 20

The route for the firemen's parade to be held next Wednesday night as a special feature of the annual week-long carnival sponsored by McSherrystown Fire company was announced Wednesday night by John R. Rudisill, general chairman.

The parade will form on the carnival grounds, South street, at the rear of Delone Catholic high school and move at 7 p. m. west on South street to First street, north to Main street, east to Oxford road, north to North street, west to Third street then south to South street and return to the carnival grounds where it will disband.

A total of $200 will be awarded in prizes with $100 offered for the best appearing firemen's company accompanied with musical organization and $50 for second best company. Twenty-five dollars will be presented for the best appearing piece of apparatus and $25 for the best ladies' auxiliary with at least 15 members in a marching unit.

Expect 15 Companies
A total of 15 companies from York, Adams and Franklin counties and Maryland have signified their intention to participate in the affair. Special entertainment booked for the carnival includes: 101 Ranch Boys for the opening night, Monday; Roth Sisters, local radio entertainers, Tuesday, and the Harmonairs, McSherrystown, Friday. Proceeds of the carnival will be donated to the company building fund.

Serving on the general committee are: Rudisill and George Felix, co-chairmen; Guy Hoffman, secretary; F. Joseph Sneideringer, treasurer; Donald Brady, Bernard S. Noel, Neal Leonard, Francis Leonard, Burnell Leonard, Leon Leppo and Harold Smith.

Local Man Has Finger Amputated

The middle finger of Merle D. Riley's left hand was amputated at the first joint Tuesday at the Chambersburg hospital where the 29-year-old Gettysburg man was admitted following an accident at Lettkeny Ordinance Depot.

An auto mechanic employed in the base shop division, Riley was operating a clutch surface grinder. His finger was torn and cut when it was caught between the clutch and an emery wheel. He also sustained cuts of the index finger.

EXPERTS CITE CROP DAMAGES AT MEET HERE

Damage to crops throughout the eastern half of the United States from hail storms was discussed by insurance company representatives and agricultural experts, as a two-day Crop Hail Adjusters' conference at the Hotel Gettysburg, which concluded Wednesday night with a banquet at which M. T. Hartman, Adams county extension agent, was toastmaster.

Robert Gillan, superintendent of Rain and Hail Bureau, New York city, was chairman of the conference. Speakers included Dr. Grant P. Snyder, Massachusetts state college, Amherst, who spoke on hail damage to apples; Prof. Edward Schneider, Penn State, who discussed tobacco diseases; Prof. J. T. Henley, Winchester, Va., who spoke on the effect of hail on peaches; G. R. Booker, southeastern Hail Adjustment Bureau, whose discussion was on the mechanical effects in tobacco; Norman W. Webber, head of the hail department of the Hartford Fire Insurance company, who discussed hail and weather effects on Connecticut Valley tobacco and Dr. Clarence Pickett, Raleigh, N. C., whose talk was on the effect of hail on grains.

Tour Local Area
The adjusters and agricultural men made a tour of this area Wednesday, and reported at the banquet that crop prospects are above average. In Virginia, however, Booker said the losses on tobacco would exceed half a million dollars, and Webber said Connecticut tobacco losses would approximate $27,000,000. Henley said a million dollar loss (Please Turn to Page 8)

Local Man Named In Carlisle Suit

Frank L. Rickabaugh of Newville seeks to collect $1040 from Roy E. Goldsmith, of Gettysburg, who operates an office in Carlisle, in an assumpsit action filed Wednesday in the Cumberland county courthouse. He alleged in the statement of claim that he paid Goldsmith $540 for a new roof that the latter installed on a house at 55 South High street, Newville. The installation was completed on July 7, 1948, and a week later Rickabaugh reported to Goldsmith that the roof leaked. Goldsmith placed repairs on the roof on several occasions, but the roof continued to leak. The water damaged the house to the extent of $500, Rickabaugh stated. He seeks to recover the $540 which he paid for the roof and $500 for damage to the house.

Firemen Report Tentative Profit Of $4,620 At Recent Observance; Thank Those Who Gave Assistance

Here And There

News Collected At Random

The following communications were received from Rev. G. S. Stoneback, president of the Adams County Ministerium, with reference to the recent raid on a carnival in Biglerville:

"Appended is a carbon copy of the note of commendation which I have sent to our District Attorney, Mr. Daniel Teeter, Esq."

"Speaking for myself as a citizen and as one who is concerned for the moral and spiritual welfare of the community, for a group of pastors who met last night and, I feel sure, for all the pastors and Christian citizens of Adams County, I add a word of appreciation to your publication for the fine support you have given the District Attorney's courageous action. It is just in this capacity that the American press at its best has served our Republic."

Rev. Stoneback's communication to District Attorney Daniel E. Teeter follows:

"Among the chief enemies of Democracy are moral and political cynicism and indifference. These are fostered by citizens who do not care and by officials who lack courage to do their duty. Swift, clear-cut action to uphold laws and to protect our communities from debasing influences serves as a wholesome antidote to the disease of cynicism which has laid waste more than one great nation."

"Therefore, Mr. District Attorney, I commend your action of last week, not only for the specific value of closing down gambling, but for the boost it gave to our confidence in our constituted authorities."

"I speak for myself, for a group of Adams County clergymen who met last evening, and I am sure, for all the clergymen and Christian citizens of our County when I express to you gratitude, commendation, and loyal support in this action and in any similar actions which may become necessary in your task of holding high the moral tone of our community."

MORE THAN 200 ATTEND TEA

Approximately 200 women attended the reception and tea given by the Gettysburg Chapter of the Eastern Star, honoring Mrs. Edna M. Kuhn, District Deputy Grand Matron, and celebrating the 25th anniversary of this chapter, at the home of Dr. and Mrs. Frank Kramer, West Broadway, Wednesday afternoon.

In the receiving line were: Mrs. Carrie Hull, the first Worthy Matron, Mrs. Kuhn, Mrs. Marjorie Teeter, the present Worthy Matron and Dr. Kramer, the Worthy Patron for the 25 years.

Past Matron and the present officers were the assistants in the living room and dining room and at the door. They were: Miriam Keefeauver, Mrs. Miriam Daley, Mrs. Maude Myers, Mrs. Zona Sheely, Mrs. Pauline Kitamiller, Mrs. Marie Sheffer, Mrs. Verna Stock, Mrs. Elizabeth Yost, Mrs. Martha Orner, Mrs. Ruth Trostle and Mrs. Elmina Deardorff.

The committee in charge of the tea included: Mrs. Anna Heintzelman, Mrs. Eva Bowers, Mrs. Lester Scott, Mrs. George Forney, Mrs. Elizabeth Yost, Mrs. Frances Plank, Mrs. Paul Spangler, Mrs. Henry T. Bream, Mrs. Naomi Schwartz, Mrs. Glenn Bream and Mrs. Kramer.

Out of town guests were present from Chambersburg, Waynesboro, Shippensburg, Harrisburg, Mifflin, Newport and Carlisle.

GIVES BAIL FOR COURT

Earl Phillips, Gettysburg R. 3, arrested by Constable Charles Smith on a warrant charging him with desertion and non-support, was held for court Wednesday by Justice of the Peace John H. Basehore. He furnished $500 bail. His wife, Mrs. Imogene M. Phillips, was the complainant.

COUPLE TO WED

A marriage license was issued at the court house today to Charles Richard Emig, East Berlin, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Emig, also of that borough, and Lorraine Evelyn Elsenhart, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Curtis A. Elsenhart, East Berlin.

A tentative profit of $4,620.17 from the block party, games and refreshments held at the fire engine house in connection with the recent observance of the 86th anniversary of the Battle of Gettysburg, was reported to the fire company Wednesday night by James S. Shenk, co-chairman of the celebration's general committee. Mr. Shenk said the figure was not final, since there are several more bills to be paid.

The block party and other attractions were held at the engine house June 30 and July 1, 2 and 4. Total receipts were reported by Mr. Shenk as $10,517.58, and expenditures to date as $5,897.41. The net profit will be the largest ever realized at a fire company carnival, according to Col. William G. Weaver, vice president, who presided at the meeting held at the Firemen's Retreat in the mountains.

Express Appreciation
Mr. Shenk and Col. Weaver complimented members of the fire company for their work, and letters of appreciation were ordered sent to the following others for their efforts in making the celebration a success.

Col. Alfred E. McKenney, professor of military science and tactics, Gettysburg college, grand marshal of the July 4 parade; the Elks and Moose lodges for dinners served the members of the Army Ground Forces band; Carleton H. TRUMAN WILL GO AHEAD ON FACT-FINDING

By HAROLD W. WARD

Washington, July 14 (AP) — The White House said today that President Truman will set up a steel fact-finding board tomorrow whether or not the "big three" producers yield to his pressure for them to go along with his plan to avert a strike Saturday.

Charles Ross, presidential press secretary, announced this after saying nothing has been heard from Mr. Truman's latest message to the three companies.

There was no hint from Ross as to who the President has in mind for the board — a group whose findings and recommendations may be decisive on the issue of whether millions of American workers are to have a fourth round of post-war wage increases.

Asked To Re-consider

Asking United States Steel, Republic and Bethlehem to reconsider their rejections of his plan to submit the wage-pension dispute to a special inquiry board for a recommended solution, Mr. Truman told the three: "Surely you are not afraid to have your side of this dispute examined in the public interest."

While some smaller steel firms and the CIO United Steel workers union accepted Mr. Truman's plan, the big three had contended it bypassed Taft-Hartley law procedures for strikes imperiling the nation's health or safety.

Philip Murray, president of the CIO and its steel union, said he will issue a strike order today to apply to all steel firms rejecting Mr. Truman's plan for a 60-day strike.

Not An Emergency

Mr. Truman, in asking the three to reconsider yesterday, said it was his opinion the present situation "does not constitute such an immediate peril to the national health or safety" as to invoke Taft-Hartley emergency strike clauses.

An inquiry board named under Taft-Hartley lacks power to recommend a dispute solution, as the President said his three-man board will have.

However, both the President and Cyrus S. Ching, director of the Federal Mediation and Conciliation service, stressed neither the companies nor union would be expected to accept any solution suggested by Mr. Truman's board. Ching said it was hoped the recommendations could form a basis for settlement.

Murray said his union was willing to forego a strike for 60 days as the President suggested, giving the board time to hear the dispute and make its report.

POPE'S ACTION STINGS REDS

Rome, July 14 (AP) — The Pope's excommunication of Communists stung the Communist-controlled press of Europe to violent retort today.

The Vatican disclosed last night that Pope Pius has cut off from the sacraments and comforts of the faith all Roman Catholics "who make profession of the materialistic and anti-Christian doctrine of the Communists."

The action was a stern warning that the church will not compromise with Communism.

Il Paese, Communist-line newspaper in Rome, called the decree "an act of hatred" and the official Italian Communist newspaper, L'Unita, said the order "crowns a violent provocatory campaign of the Holy See against Catholics who do not intend to submit to its political directives."

Italy is an overwhelmingly Catholic country in which the Communists officially number more than 2,000,000, and the papal decree could have a telling effect here.

The Communists have swung 5,000,000 votes in the postwar elections in France, also a predominantly Catholic country, where the warning of the Pope to the faithful to avoid exposing themselves to Communist doctrines and writings, also could have a heavy effect.

NOTES ON LATE FRUIT ROTS

Brown-rot of stone fruits (cherries, plums, and peaches) and black-rot of grapes are fungous diseases which warrant a strict program of control around the entire year. But of course, growers must know and practice protective spraying during the growing season to keep these destructive troubles curbed. Included in suggestions for preventing losses by these rots is a note of help in relation to the grape-berry moth and its ravages.

Brown-rot often takes a heavy toll of plums and peaches if the weather is warm and moist in mid-summer or any time before the fruits mature. Organisms causing this rot live over from one year to the next in old "mummied" fruits left on the trees or hidden in rubbish on the ground near the trees. Also, many spores survive in dead foliage. In spring fruiting spores literally shoot into the air, especially after rains, reaching the new foliage and twigs. Later spores enter the tiny fruits, particularly through punctures made by the curculio. Decay may not become visible until just before the respective fruits begin to ripen. Then ravages may spread quickly and heavily.

Full prevention of brown-rot calls for the full spray schedules of cherries, plums, and peaches, starting before or soon after the blossoming period. But even if these earlier applications have been neglected, growers may obtain profitable control over the disease by spraying within four weeks of the date each variety of stone fruit is expected to begin ripening. And if the season is damp and warm and thereby favorable to the spread of brown-rot, one application should be made about 35 days before fruit is expected to begin ripening and then the spray should be repeated about 10 to 12 days later.

Most commercial fruit growers prefer dry wettable sulphur in this brown-rot prevention role, mixed according to directions on the container of the particular brand. Dry lime sulphur is also effective.

Of course, fruits already stricken with this rot should be gathered and destroyed or rendered safe from further propagation of rot fungi by deep burial. This advice is doubly applicable to late peaches mummied on the branches. For the same reason all leaves and broken branches and twigs should be gathered and burned before winter.

Viewing brown-rot at longer range, home fruit growers should remember that the disease cannot be entirely conquered without applying the full schedule of sprays recommended for each kind of stone fruit.

Black-rot of grapes greatly resembles brown-rot of stone fruits in its manner of survival and infection. To reduce the trouble after grapes near maturity, spray with 4-4-50 Bordeaux mixture 25 to 30 days before each variety is expected to begin ripening. The spray should be directed against each bunch of fruit from several directions. Good pressure is necessary to insure a uniform coating of fruit and foliage.

Grape growers who find the bunches of fruit ravaged, with the individual berries collapsed and bees feeding on the exuding juice should not blame the innocent bee for the damage. It is the work of the grape-berry moth, a small grub feeding inside the grape. Bees are there merely because they are attracted by the juice after the larvae have entered the fruits. Control lies in spraying grapes thoroughly with Bordeaux mixture and lead arsenate when grapes first begin to touch in the clusters. Of course, better control is obtained by applying the full-season schedule of sprays recommended for protecting grapes.

To curb speeding and parking violations the club passed a motion to request additional patrolling of Biglerville by state police of the substation in Gettysburg. The safety committee reported that school zone signs will be erected between now and the opening of school.

It was agreed that no major offenses against the peddling ordinance of the town have been occurring.

An inquiry into the possibility of having a collection point in Biglerville for making payment of telephone bills disclosed the fact that the majority of people pay by check. No further action was taken.

The proposed project to sponsor a festive, one-day event to stimulate business was postponed until next spring to avoid conflict with the South Mountain Fair.

Church To Observe 150th Anniversary

Aaronsburg, Pa., July 14 (AP) — Protestant, Catholic and Jewish leaders will join in this Centre county town on October 22-23 in observing the 150th anniversary of the Aaronsburg Lutheran church.

An historical pageant is being arranged to commemorate the founding of the church on land donated by Aaron Levy, who migrated to America from Holland in 1700.

"The history of the founding of Aaronsburg typifies just what this nation and the world is trying to do in erasing intolerance of religion, race and color," declared Claude G. Aikens of State college, publisher of the Centre Daily Times and chairman of the Pennsylvania Week program in Centre county.

A committee of Centre county leaders has been selected to arrange with national church officials to provide representatives for the affair. Gov. James H. Duff of Pennsylvania is expected to attend as a climax to the state-wide Pennsylvania Week celebration.

Water Authority Is Taking Over Firm

Harrisburg, July 14 (AP) — The Myerstown Water Authority was authorized late yesterday by the Public Utility Commission to take over the Myerstown Water company.

The PUC said the authority will acquire all the company's common stock, waterworks facilities, rights and franchises. Cost of the waterworks was set at $194,708.

The water company serves about 1,000 customers in Myerstown borough and parts of adjoining Jackson township, Lebanon county. Seller of the company is the Pennsylvania State Water Corp., New York City, a holding company.

Windy Sure "Stopped The Show"

The other night a bunch of us were over at Judge Cunningham's watching a swell vaudeville program on his new television set. It came in fine, but just once, the screen got a little streaky.

Before the Judge could touch the knob to bring it into focus, old Windy Taylor starts fooling around with the antenna connection. "I can fix that!" he says.

Windy fixed it all right. He "stopped the show" for us, and Buzz Ellis had to come over and do a $20 repair job. I understand Windy feels so bad, that he's paying the bill and has apologized to the Judge for acting so smart.

From where I sit, it pays to practice a little restraint whenever we get the urge to meddle. Whether it's television or a person's right to enjoy a temperate glass of sparkling beer now and then—let's get a good clear "picture" of the real situation before we cause more harm than good.

Hershey Coach Co. Pulls Wage Increase

Hershey, Pa., July 14 (AP) — State Mediator Philip Bolen said early today management of the strike-bound Hershey Coach company has withdrawn its six cents per hour wage increase.

The strike, affecting some 24 drivers and mechanics, began Sunday following a wage dispute between management and the AFL-Union of Automobile Workers.

Bolen said the company's offer of six cents an hour in addition to the present rate of $1.05 an hour was unsatisfactory to the union. It is asking $1.30 an hour.

SAY FIGHT NOT CRASH'S CAUSE

Los Angeles, July 14 (AP) — Civil Aeronautics board officials say that low flying and not a fight caused the crash and explosion of a non-scheduled airliner which cost 35 lives and injuries to 14.

Stewardess Charlotte Grenander, 23, told authorities yesterday that the scrap aboard the Standard Airlines' twin-engine C-46 commando was only a one-punch affair. She said it occurred an hour before the crash in the rugged Santa Susana mountains 30 miles north of downtown Los Angeles Tuesday.

She named Frank Conway, Albany, N. Y., who was killed, as the man who struck his seatmate, Miss Grenander added that there was no trouble after the pilot, Capt. Roy C. White, came back and talked to Conway.

James N. Peyton, regional CAB chief, said the aircraft was on course for an instrument approach landing at Lockheed air terminal, Burbank, but was 2,000 feet too low. He said a smashed altimeter registered 1940 feet.

SIX MANAGERS SEE POSSIBLE LOOP TITLES

By JOE REICHLER

(Associated Press Sports Writer)

The major league pennant races are going to wind up in two triple ties for first place.

At least that's the conclusion one draws after comment from Casey Stengel, Burt Shotton, Joe McCarthy, Connie Mack and other optimistic pilots.

The latest and most surprising skipper to look into the future through rose colored glasses is Joe McCarthy, the usually reticent leader of the Boston Red Sox.

Although weighted down in fourth place, eight and a half games off the pace at the half-way mark, McCarthy insisted that his club "from here in is the team to beat" in the American league race.

"We'll be there or thereabouts at the finish," he said. "Everything has been breaking just right for the Yankees."

The Red Sox really are moving now. They've won seven in a row and are only a game and a half behind the third place Philadelphia Athletics.

Believes Sox Out

Casey Stengel, who has done such an amazing job with the front-running New York Yankees, does not share McCarthy's opinion.

"I had been inclined to think that the Red Sox would provide us with the toughest competition," Stengel said. "I felt that way even when they languished in the second division. But when we knocked them off five times in a row recently, that finished them. I don't think they can recover."

A week ago Stengel picked the Athletics as the only team that could stop his Yankees, who currently hold a five and a half game bulge over the second place Cleveland Indians. At the time, the A's were in second place, only four and a half behind.

"If we can beat the A's more times than they beat us, we're in," Stengel said. "If not, it probably will be the A's."

Whereupon the Yankees knocked off the Mackmen in a solo contest, and started them on their way to a five-game losing streak.

Connie Mack, Philadelphia's 86-year-old manager, is not discouraged, however.

"Our boys, although in third place today, feel they still can win and I, as their manager, have to go along with them, naturally," he said. "Don't count us out. We still have a good chance."

Cleveland's Lou Boudreau didn't talk much but grinned knowingly when asked whether he thought he would repeat.

"We're still the champions," he said. "It's up to the others to beat us. And it's not going to be easy. I promise you that."

Shotton Confident

Burt Shotton, grizzled Brooklyn manager, still insists, as he has all season long, that his Dodgers are going to win the National league flag. In this he has the backing of his boss, Branch Rickey. Currently, the Dodgers hold a half-game edge on the St. Louis Cardinals, who have won 35 of their last 50 games.

Redbirds leader Eddie Dyer thinks his team is at least 15 per cent improved with the addition of pitchers Max Lanier and Fred Martin and infielder Lou Klein.

Dyer and Billy Southworth, manager of the third place Boston Braves, envisioned a stretch drive that would not produce a winner until the final day.

The Indians in the American, and Brooklyn and Boston in the National, face an opportunity to strengthen their claims, as each opens a 13-game home stand starting tonight.

The brash Binghamton Triplets, gunning for second place, are making life tough for the Eastern league's top pitchers, George Selkirk's club came from behind again last night and bumped off Roy Welmaker, Negro southpaw ace of the Wilkes-Barre Barons, 5-3.

The Miners wiped out a 4-0 deficit at Utica and trimmed the slipping Blue Sox, 10-5. Ted Del Guercio, with a triple, double and single, again proved most of the Scranton power.

The Williamsport Tigers, continuing their peculiar mastery over the Hartford Chiefs, won 10-7, behind Al Ronay.

Elmira and Albany were not scheduled. The Senators, whose first place margin was widened to 11 games by Wilkes-Barre's defeat, lost a 5-3 exhibition to the New York Giants.

The Dapper Dan

MEET OPENS

Pittsburgh, July 14 (AP)—PGA Champ Sam Snead and open titleholder Gary Middlecoff resume their golfing war today, leading the field of 156 pros and amateurs teeing off in the $16,000 Dapper Dan tournament.

Middlecoff, currently holding a slight lead over Snead in the battle for money winning honors, topped the shotmaker from White Sulphur Springs, W. Va., by one stroke in the recent Reading, Pa. tourney.

The Dapper Dan—a 72-hole four-day competition over the rolling Allegheny Country club course—also is expected to play a major role in the selection of the two remaining members of the U. S. Ryder Cup team.

Vic Chezzi, defending Dapper Dan champion from Deal, N. J., is one of the Ryder Cup aspirants entered here. Others are Bob Hamilton of Landover, Md.; Johnny Bulla of Pittsburgh, and Dick Metz of Virginia Beach, Va.

Ryder Cup team members are selected on a point basis as a result of competitive performances. Top favorites in the 1949 Dapper Dan include Ghezzi, Snead, Middlecoff and Lloyd Mangrum, the Chicago Iron master. The pro winner will pocket $2,600 with district pro competing for $1,000 on the side. Profits go to charity.

HOPE ANSWERS 'BOYCOTTERS'

Hollywood, July 14 (AP)—Bob Hope got up enough mock indignation Wednesday to reply to an Akron, O., jeweler who led a large delegation of Ohio fans to see the Pittsburgh Pirates play baseball in a boycott of Owner Bill Veeck and the world champion Cleveland Indians.

Hope, a stockholder in the Cleveland club, was particularly irate—he said—because the delegation threatened to carry banners on its train to Pittsburgh reading: "To hell with Bob Hope, hooray for Bing Crosby."

Hope pointed out, in Hope fashion, that while Crosby is a stockholder of the Pirates, every time someone yells "hooray for Crosby," the Pirates lose another game.

He said he was writing an open postcard to the Akron businessman, Leo Santilli, who got sore at Veeck because he couldn't buy a batch of season tickets for the Cleveland games.

"I am surprised at Mr. Santilli," Hope went on. "I have played Akron many times and found most appreciative audiences. Not one single used tire was ever thrown at me."

To placate Santilli, Hope said, he is sending him an autographed picture—posed in a Cleveland uniform. "And furthermore, I am inviting him to be my personal guest at the World Series—which, of course, Cleveland will win."

Sports Roundup

By HUGH FULLERTON, JR.

New York, July 14 (AP)—It isn't surprising to hear Bill McKechnie come out with optimistic words about the Cleveland Indians, especially since they've climbed to second place. . . . Bill never was one to knock a club he worked for. . . . "We're hitting better now and we're really coming along," McKechnie says, and he really seems to mean it. . . . "Lou Boudreau is really hitting now and Doby has brought his average up a lot. Lou is playing a lot since Ken Keltner was hurt, and Ray Boone is going to be a good shortstop. He's over his nervousness now. . . . It was our pitching that was carrying us for a while, but we're hitting now." . . . After that explanation, Bill took off to hit to the infielders with the further comment: "It's up to us old folks to make these youngsters hustle"—and, brother, he does.

LAST WORD

After the All-star baseball game in Brooklyn Tuesday, someone asked Charley Segar, National league publicist: "Is this game supposed to be played for or by old-time ball players?" . . . Maybe the answer should have been that it was a benefit for the fresh error fund. . . . Anyway, the National leaguers wanted to win in the worst way; instead they lost in the worst way.

ONE-MINUTE SPORTS PAGE

Top prize for the Ezzard Charles-Gus Lesnevich fight in New York will be $16.50. In Philly Robinson and Gavilan fought for a $12.50 top. . . . Maybe they're charging by the pound. . . . Looks like the Red Sox figure they may need help in a hurry later in the season. They shifted Pitcher Windy McCall to Louisville and persuaded Seattle to deliver Sammy White, the $75,000 rookie catcher, ahead of schedule so he could go to the same club. . . . Chick Evans won the western open golf championship in 1910 and hasn't missed one since, though he never repeated. . . . Chick says it was a tougher tournament than the U. S. open or amateur in those days. . . . When a Chicago writer heard the White Sox were sending Pitcher Al Gettel to Washington via the waiver route, he commented, "We have enough waiver players now." . . . But maybe a guy in the doghouse will just fit into that club.

Cleveland—Don Black, Cleveland Indians' pitcher, started his first game since a near fatal collapse last September, working the first two innings against Pittsburgh Pirates in exhibition game. Black gave up the only run of the game, allowing two doubles, a single and four walks.

Firing Mortars at Gap Today

Indiantown Gap, Pa., July 14 (AP)—Sounds of mortar fire filled the air over the huge military reservation here today as the Tenth Corps artillery took over the artillery range.

Some 7,000 troops of the Pennsylvania and Virginia National Guards are in summer training here prior to the opening of a two-weeks encampment of the PNG's 28th Infantry division.

Units from Harrisburg, Sunbury, Wilkes-Barre, Waynesboro, and Philadelphia began firing their 105 howitzers at dawn.

The 29th Field Artillery battalion, from Bellefonte, conducted camouflage exercises and demonstrations in field fortifications in preparation for their own firing with the 155mm tractor-drawn howitzers tomorrow and Monday.

Meanwhile, all units are preparing for the "Governor's Day" exercises here Sunday when they will pass in review before Gov. James H. Duff.

Some 20,000 are expected to witness the huge military parade of all Guard personnel.

More Soda Pop Is Being Consumed

Harrisburg, July 14 (AP)—The recent heat wave might have had something to do with it, but records show Pennsylvanians are drinking more soda pop.

The State revenue department said an increase of $149,398 was received in the first six months of 1949 over the same period last year in collections from the state's penny soft drinks tax.

The levy amounted to $6,199,220 in the January through June period and at the rate, the department predicted little difficulty in collecting the expected $27,000,000 during the next two years.

The special tax is one cent on each 12 ounces of bottled soft drinks and a half cent on each ounce of syrup used for fountain drinks.

REUTHER GAINS FULL CONTROL

Milwaukee, Wis., July 14 (AP)—A 60-day steel strike postponement undoubtedly would force the hand of the CIO United Auto Workers in their threat to strike the Ford Motor company.

That's what a man-in-the-street poll among delegates at the UAW convention here would show.

Many of them figure a long steel strike delay would bring a quick showdown in the auto workers' attempts to win their first big pension plan from Ford. This is based on the theory that the rank and file workers could not be kept pacified for two months after the contract expires.

Concern over the impending Ford-UAW battle in Detroit switched much of the convention delegates' attention away from what is going on here—such as UAW President Walter Reuther's winning absolute control of the union's executive board.

The Ford contract expires tomorrow. The union has agreed to extend it on a day-to-day basis for an undisclosed period beyond then. This had led to speculation that the auto workers would let another CIO union—the steelworkers—carry the ball this year. Reuther and other UAW leaders never denied that this had been their strategy.

Russia Holds Onto Key War Chemicals

Washington, July 14 (AP)—Russia withheld manganese and chrome shipments to the U. S. in May for the second consecutive month, the Census Bureau reported today.

Both metals, essential in turning out high grade steel, are considered so vital by the government that it buys them for stockpiling against a war emergency.

A Russian cut-off of manganese for the U. S.—in retaliation for the 15 month U. S. ban against shipment of "war potential" goods to Russia—had been threatened since last fall in Soviet dealings with private importers.

Confirmation that the Russia had adopted a holdback policy on these strategic metals was seen by officials here in the fact that the cut-off had, in May, stretched through its second straight month.

Hersh Home Nets $10,750: C. G. Taughinbaugh, North Stratton street, register and recorder of Adams county, purchased the real estate of William Hersh, at a sale Saturday afternoon, for $10,750.

Mr. Taughinbaugh said he planned to repair the property for the purpose of converting it into an apartment building.

County Couple Married Friday: Miss Dorothy A. Hankey, daughter of Mrs. Daisy Chuck, and Paul H. Ketterman, son of Mr. and Mrs. George H. Ketterman, of Cumberland township, were married Friday evening at 8 o'clock by the Rev. J. M. Davies in the Presbyterian church parsonage, Hunterstown.

Fire Truck Is Purchased by Ardentville: Ardentville will motorize its fire department with a new $6,500 International-Boyer hose truck and pumper, P. S. Orner, chairman of the committee appointed to purchase the apparatus, announced today.

The new piece of fire-fighting apparatus will be demonstrated at the South Mountain Fair, September 10, 11, 12 and 13.

Returns Home From Fraternity Confab: Milton C. Plank, Broadway, returned on Tuesday from Portland, Oregon, where he attended the annual convention of the Sigma Chi fraternity as a delegate from the chapter of Gettysburg college. He was away for three weeks.

President's Wife Stops Here Wednesday: Mrs. Herbert Hoover, wife of the president, passed through Gettysburg Wednesday morning at 11:45 o'clock on her way to Pine Grove Furnace, where in the afternoon she presented a golden eagle, highest Girl Scout award, to Miss Suzanne Rutherford, of Paxtang, at the Girl Scout camp of the Harrisburg area.

A brief stop was made in Center Square to pick up an escort of three motor patrolmen, who were to lead the way to Pine Grove Furnace. In the escorting detail were Corporal T. N. Boate, Patrolman C. W. Ach-enback and Patrolman Harry W. Wolfe.

New Money in Circulation: Gettysburg's banks introduced the new size currency to local patrons Wednesday afternoon. Three shipments, one consigned to each of the three banks in town from the Federal Reserve bank, at Philadelphia, arrived here at noon and shortly afterward the new money was placed in circulation.

Countians Married: E. Glenn Hoke, Ardentville, and Bernadene Thomas, Aspers, were married by the Rev. Dr. Henri L. G. Keiffer at the Evangelical Reformed parsonage in Frederick Saturday noon.

Elect Teacher for Cashtown: Charles L. Gentzler, who was principal of the Fayetteville consolidated schools for the last several years and recently elected for the term of 1929-30, has resigned.

Mr. Gentzler has been elected principal of the consolidated school in Cashtown, Adams county.

Guests at Cottage: Fifty members and guests of Mary Gettys Rebekah lodge were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Robert E. Tipton at a covered luncheon at their summer home at Marsh Creek Heights, Friday evening.

Three County Girls Sign Contracts to Teach School: Three Adams county girls, who were graduated from Gettysburg college in June, have accepted teaching positions for the coming term.

Miss Ethel Clapsaddle will teach at the Roaring Springs high school. Miss Jeannette Horner has accepted a position as teacher in the high school at Luthersburg. Miss Mildred Deardorff will go to Lititz, where she will teach in the high school.

Today's Talk

HOME

For many years, of necessity, I travelled thousands of miles, under all sorts of conditions. But I never left home without a catch in the throat, and never returned without realizing that home was the best destination of all.

Travelling to learn, and to gain a livelihood, is a worthy occupation, but the longer it is engaged in, the more one longs to stay at home, with its simple comforts and freedom. Travelling just to get to one's destination, however, without knowledge gained along the way, is like shoving Opportunity from one's path, without an eyepiece.

Said Thoreau: "Only that travelling is good which reveals to me the value of home and enables me to enjoy it better." Perhaps it may well be said that home is the ever-shining star that guides us safely and happily over life's roughest roads. People coming from long tours in foreign lands habitually exclaim upon their return that "there is no place like home."

There are too many people in this world who do not appreciate their homes. But they hardly get away before they wish that they were back in their own small niche, and to the most comfortable bed ever known! Homesickness is a wonderful ailment for us all to have. It makes one conscious of one of the greatest blessings on earth.

John Howard Payne wrote his immortal "Home, Sweet Home" while in a foreign land, but without a yet that song has made millions appreciate their "home" and look forward to its enjoyment anew.

It doesn't take great wealth to make a home beloved. It's as Eddie Guest has written in one of his most famous poems—"It takes a heap o' livin' in a house 't make it home."

Usually the humbler it is the happier are all within its walls. And more precious are its memories.

If you have a home—"be it ever so humble"—try and look upon it as a shrine and thank God each day for its possession.

Tomorrow Mr. Adams will talk on the subject: "The Beaten Track." Protected, 1949, by The George Matthews Adams Service

Just Folks

QUESTION

What is wrong with us that men One another want to kill?
Why these tales of crime we pen Pages of the press to fill?

Why the countless minds distraught?
Why so many wayward youth?
Can it be in what we've taught
We have lost the light of truth?

Can it be we've ceased to care
For the ways our parents taught:
Love of home and conduct fair,
Love of gentle deed and thought?

Why "old-fashioned" now the phrase
Flung at simple truths to sneer?
Following those "old-fashioned ways"
Life was surely cleaner here.

HAILS WERKLEY AS EXAMPLE OF TRUE REPORTER

By HAL BOYLE

New York, July 14 (AP)—There is no need to write an obituary for a good reporter.

He's already done it himself—in stories which gave people a picture of the times they lived in.

But I do want to tell you something about one reporter, and why he was good.

His name was John G. Werkley. He and 12 other newsmen returning from the Netherlands East Indies died Tuesday in the crash of a Royal Dutch airlines plane near Bombay.

Several of the group had a wider fame than Jack Werkley. But I'd like to tell you about him because I knew him longest and best—and because I never met a better reporter.

He had no background in this trade, craft, profession, game or business—this long nerve-ache for information called "newspaperwork." His dad was a veteran railroad conductor. But somehow Jack got the newspaper virus early.

I first met him 18 years ago at the University of Missouri. Jack had gone there from his home in New Jersey—on a slender budget—because he'd heard Missouri had a good journalism school.

He was a slim, restless, energetic kid with a shock of unruly hair, a smile that never rubbed off. We had adjoining rooms, a student dormitory. Jack would stay up half the night reading the lives of great newspapermen and great newspapers. Daytime he would skip classes to prow the streets looking for items for the school's daily paper.

He was a natural newspaperman, a star from the start. Reporting to him was pure intoxication. He had a talent for getting to know people, a humorous, offhand way of meeting them for the first time and making them feel like they had known him for a long time. And they usually told him what he wanted to know. Perhaps because he was such a good listener.

He could—and did—cover anything from a fast-breaking crime story to the Texas City explosion or the State department diplomatic beat in Washington.

He had the knack of putting words together—the thing that makes writing luminous and readable. And he could roll the copy out fast and clean. And these are the hallmarks of ability in our clan.

Last year Jack left the New York Herald Tribune's Washington Bureau to join the staff of Time magazine here. For a time he missed the daily excitement of spot reporting. A few weeks ago we had lunch together.

"I'm going to Indonesia to get a first-hand look at what's going on there," he said. "Better come along."

I was tempted. I had been invited by Lynn Mahan, an old Missouri friend who acted as public relations man for the Dutch government on the tour, and who also was killed. But I already had another assignment—a trip to the European war zones.

That was the last time I saw Jack. He was happy as a cub reporter off on his first story.

Now he's dead—at 36, never having wearied or become cynical. But, he had helped in a memorable way to tell the tale of his time, and that's what he set out to do.

He was the symbol of a great type—the true reporter. And only death stopped his questioning.

24 Pa. Towns May Get Video Stations

Washington, July 14 (AP)—If new television proposals of the Federal Communications commission are approved, 24 cities and towns in Pennsylvania would be allocated broadcast channels.

Under the FCC's plan some 1,700 more television stations would be built in nearly 1,200 cities and towns not previously allocated channels.

The commission proposes to add 42 new television channels to the existing 12 to provide for the expansion. The proposals are subject to public hearing Aug. 29 with formal action planned, if possible, by the end of the year.

GIRL SLAIN BY OLDER BROTHER

York, Pa., July 14 (AP)—A two and one-half-year-old girl died today from a rifle wound which state police said apparently was inflicted accidentally by her older brother.

The victim was Mary Elizabeth Vickers, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert C. Vickers, who live on a farm outside nearby Fawn Grove.

State Policemen Richard P. Sneider and C. J. Shovlin, identified the brother as John Henry Vickers, 11. The officers said they believed the shooting was accidental but turned the boy over to juvenile authorities until they completed their investigation.

Sneider and Shovlin said John Henry gave this account of the shooting.

The boy found a .22 rifle in a downstairs bedroom. He went out on the porch and aimed at a target in the field, pulled the trigger but there was no discharge. He pulled back the bolt in the rifle which pushed a cartridge into the chamber. As he aimed at the target a second time his sister suddenly appeared in front of the rifle. The bullet struck her in the abdomen.

The little girl was brought to the York hospital where she died early today.

DESPAIR, HOPE FILL PICTURE IN INDONESIA

By JAMES D. WHITE

(AP Foreign News Analyst)
The correspondents who died in that Bombay air crash had gone to Indonesia to get a story strangely mixed with despair and hope.

This story has been dragging out its complicated course nearly four years in an area of peculiar importance to the human race.

This importance stems from several things. Indonesia contains things people use a lot—oil, tin, rubber, quinine, etc. It also contains the most congested population on earth (Java) in a section of the world that is intent, in varying degrees of passion, on attaining national freedom. The passion does not vary according to the actual readiness of the people concerned to govern themselves, and that is part of the despair.

But there may be a peaceful way to make the change, and that is the hope.

Hope persists because, while both sides seem to have made mistakes in Indonesia, they also have tried not to.

After driving the Portuguese out of Indonesia some 300 years ago the Dutch ruled the Indies with a firm but paternal hand. They could afford to. The Indies yielded such riches that there was a lot left over to improve the Indies themselves. Moreover the Indonesians were a cultured people who even sheathed the sword of Islam with their peaceable ways when the Moslem faith became the dominant religion.

But even before World War II the Indonesians had begun to agitate for freedom.

The Japanese swept the Dutch out of Indonesia or into concentration camps, much as a tidal wave once uprooted trees along the shore of Sunda strait when the volcano Krakatau blew itself to bits.

They promised the Indonesians everything, but didn't deliver. Only at the last minute before V-J Day, they let them set up a republic.

The Dutch came back, war-weary in their own right, to an Indonesia that wanted freedom but still needed help which the Dutch could supply.

The Dutch realized that without Indonesia their own country would be poor indeed. Their plan was to put the republic into a united states of Indonesia, and make that a member of a new Dutch commonwealth that would replace the empire.

Troubled Record
Many things worked against this. In the mother country many Dutchmen couldn't see it. Cabinets have fallen at the Hague over the Indonesian question. In Indonesia, the Japanese left a legacy of guns, poverty, and chaos. Guerrillas scrounged for themselves. The Dutch army and the Indonesian army didn't trust each other. Each charged the other with violating every truce agreement set up.

The United Nations stepped in and set a commission to mediate. But the past four years are strewn with agreements made, broken, and followed by fighting.

Twice the Dutch have taken "police action" that bypassed U.N.-sponsored truces. The last time, last December, most nations condemned their action, without saying what they would have done if they had been in the same spot.

New Try Now
Now, there's to be another try to iron things out, and if it works the new plan will start working by next year.

The correspondents on that ill-fated plane had been taken by the Dutch to look the situation over. One report says they had become convinced that the Indonesians are not ready for self government and that chaos will follow.

That's half the question. The other half is whether anyone else can govern them these days.

STARS DIFFER ON EFFECT OF BIG SCANDALS

By BOB THOMAS

Hollywood, July 14 (AP)—Extra! Extra! Big Hollywood scandal!

Newsboys have been able to issue this call many times in recent years. Adverse publicity concerning big stars has rocked the town and serious minds have worried about its effect on the public.

The question is: Does scandal affect the popularity of stars? The subject was posed to several famous names and here are their answers: Mickey Rooney—"Yes, scandal hurts a star. A star gets a big pay-check and fancy clothes and other things because people pay to see him. He has an obligation to the public to behave himself; when he doesn't he suffers for it. However, some players are hurt more than others. I am much more criticized for marrying three times than Bob Mitchum is for smoking marijuana."

Depends On Individual
Paul Douglas—"I don't see much difference between publicity and notoriety."

Shirley Temple—"I don't know what the polls say about how scandal affects a star's popularity, but I do know it affects the star himself. Anything one does that is wrong is bound to make him feel remorseful."

Victor Mature—"You came to the right person; I have a Ph.D. on the subject. I think it depends a lot on the type of individual the player is. But any wrong-doing is always bad for Hollywood as a working community."

Says Stars Are Unique
Charles Bickford—"Scandal seldom hurts a young romantic star—in fact, often enhances his popularity. But it can damage a comedian or an older actor. If I did something out of line, I would just be considered a dirty old man."

Joan Fontaine—"They tell me it doesn't make any difference—but I'm not going to try it. Scandal doesn't seem to hurt the men, but I don't know about the women."

Richard Conte—"A movie star is unique in that he rises to the top without stepping on anyone. Generally speaking, he has the complete goodwill of the public. If he does something that hurts only himself, then he can retain his popularity. But if he does something that hurts the public, or a symbol of the public—for instance, striking a child—then he is in trouble."

Bad In Long Run
Ann Blyth—"Scandal may enhance a star's popularity for a while, but in the long run it is bad business. Eventually the public will look down on the star."

Gloria de Haven—"Scandal hurts the star in the majority of cases. However, it varies with the type of personality."

Susan Hayward—"It's my opinion that the public is quick to come to the defense of someone in trouble in Hollywood. Whether this is good or bad, I am in no position to judge."

Authority's First Bonds Are Offered

Harrisburg, July 14 (AP)—The state's new multi-million dollar general authority placed its first bond issue—a $30,000,000 chunk—on the bidding block here today.

The funds will be used to finance immediate obligations on some $45,300,000 in projects the new agency has assumed since its creation by the 1949 General Assembly.

The authority board called a meeting in the office of Gov. James H. Duff, authority chairman, to open the bids on the initial bond issue.

The board is expected at the same time to name a new executive director to run the $175,000,000 public improvement program.

Dr. Edward B. Logan, budget secretary and acting executive director of the authority, said that $3,000,000 worth of the first bond issue will have a maturity period of nine years and the remainder 25 years.

The buildings constructed under the authority program will be leased to the state and the rentals used to retire the bonds.

COMPANY GETS SUSPENSION IN DEATHS OF 53

Washington, July 14 (AP) — The Civil Aeronautics Administration today suspended the operating rights of Strato Freight, Inc. It operated the plane in which 53 persons were killed in Puerto Rico last month.

CAA Administrator D. W. Rentzel accused the company of operating faulty equipment. He also asserted that it had repeatedly violated safety regulations.

Rentzel suspended the operating rights under his emergency powers. At the same time, he filed a formal petition with the Civil Aeronautics board asking that Strato Freight's flying authority be permanently revoked.

Had 81 Aboard

A C-46 operated by Strato Freight dove into the sea off San Juan, Puerto Rico, June 7, shortly after a takeoff for Newark, N. J., via Miami.

There were 81 persons aboard. Twenty-eight were rescued. The plane was being flown under charter to a travel agency.

Rentzel said in his petition to the CAB that an inquiry disclosed the plane was flown June 5 from Newark to Miami with a cable flap (which coordinates landing and takeoff controls) "in a frayed and weakened condition."

Ship Not Recovered

He said the flap was broken when the ship hopped to San Juan from Miami to pick up its passenger load there.

In response to inquiries, CAA officials said it had not been determined whether repairs were made in San Juan. The ship is still at the bottom of the sea. Efforts will be made to raise it for further investigation.

The Rentzel petition also alleged that the condition of the cable was known to the operator, and that there was an excess load aboard when the plane took off from San Juan.

45 CHURCHES ARE LOOTED

Hackensack, N. J., July 14 (AP) — The death of his mother despite his prayers led 25-year-old Joseph De Poalo to renounce religion and loot 45 Roman Catholic churches in revenge, police quote him as saying. Bergen county Detective Chief Michael Orecchio said yesterday the stocky, dark-haired man told of stealing a total of $15,000 from churches throughout New England, New York, New Jersey and Pennsylvania.

Orecchio said De Poalo gave his disillusionment after the death of his mother nine years ago as the reason he embarked on the long series of thefts that ended in his arrest last week.

East Orange police arrested De Poalo outside a church there and charged him with attempted robbery.

The detective chief said De Poalo led police to a small green box where he had secreted $1,000 of the loot from the Catholic churches.

The thefts ranged from $3 to $2,100, Orecchio said.

Another man, Sidney Ipolito of the Bronx, N. Y., has been arrested in New York city as De Poalo's partner in some of the thefts.

Orecchio said one of the largest thefts De Poalo told of was in Altoona, Pa., where nearly $2,000 and several rings were stolen from a large Roman Catholic church. One of the rings was described as belonging to a bishop.

Fayetteville Artist To Display Paintings

An exhibition of the art work of John T. Landis of Fayetteville, R. D., will be held July 16-23 in the home furnishing store of P. Nicklas Sons, 37 South Main street, Chambersburg. Over 50 pictures will be displayed, including: oils, water colors, and lithograph and wood engraving prints. Among the works will be the self-portrait which won the popular vote in the April exhibit of the Chambersburg Art association. Scenes of outdoor life dominate the exhibit.

Mr. Landis, the son of Mr. and Mrs. George M. Landis, of Fayetteville, R. D., began his art studies in the class taught by Miss Elizabeth Shields, Chambersburg, R. D. Following his graduation from Chambersburg high school, class of 1941, he entered the Philadelphia Museum School of Art. His course was interrupted by nearly three years of Army service. Mr. Landis now resides in Philadelphia and is specializing in illustration and advertising design.

START GREENWOOD CUTTINGS NOW

Growing ornamental and certain fruit plants from softwood, greenwood or so-called summer cuttings is a profitable as well as an interesting task. The work requires simple equipment and little experience. Of course, success is not always assured, but in the main gardeners may multiply numerous kinds of woody shrubs, vines, and other ornamentals, particularly choice roses. The chief principle involved in growing plants from immature cuttings also reveals keys to proper methods. This idea is based on the fact that the cuttings contain sufficient vigor in their tissues to sustain life until roots form to take additional sustenance from the soil. Likewise methods must be employed to prevent excessive loss of moisture from the cuttings until this growth gets under way.

These ends, as experience demonstrates, are best gained by using clean sand as the rooting medium. If only a few cuttings are grown, a small box may be used and each cutting covered with an inverted glass jar or the box snugly covered with a pane of glass. If a large number of cuttings is to be started, a special frame should be constructed or a coldframe used, with the sash sloping toward the north and the entire frame shaded with a muslin or doubled cheesecloth screen erected along the south side. Use of soil or even sand containing considerable organic matter usually invites cutting rot before roots can form.

Two important questions are asked by those who have never grown summer cuttings—(1) Which plants can be multiplied by this method? (2) How are cuttings taken and planted?

Almost all deciduous (those which shed their leaves in the fall) plants permit propagation by softwood cuttings, including prominently roses, abellas, azaleas (although evergreen), barberries, boxwood, another evergreen, deutzias, forsythias, honeysuckles, viburnums (snowballs), hydrangeas, mock orange, pearlbrush, the spiraea, privets, lilacs, flowering quince, false indigo, butterfly bush (Buddleia), and also herbaceous (plants which die back to the ground before winter) perennials, as carnations, chrysanthemums, and many others.

A similar principle of propagation permits multiplication of plants from leaves of fleshy-leaved genera and species. Thus, most begonias, African violets, crassulas, cacti, aloes and other ornamentals of this large group may be propagated by using their fleshy leaves instead of cuttings. In these cases the leaf contains sufficient nourishment to keep the cutting alive until roots form.

Most plants grow from cuttings taken in summer when the wood of the current season's growth just begins to harden. A tip is cut off with a sharp, thin-bladed knife diagonally through a leaf joint or node. The cutting should consist of two nodes and the tip leaves. All but one or two small tip leaves should be carefully cut off so there will not be a heavy demand for foliage sustenance.

The cutting should be planted immediately or dropped in a basin of water or wrapped in wet paper or wet peat moss. Clean sand is moistened and tamped firmly. A groove is cut in the sand to permit planting to a depth that places most of the cutting stem beneath the sand. The sand is then firmly packed around the cutting and the sash placed at once on the bed or jar inverted over the individual cutting.

NOTES ON STORAGE CELLARS

Numerous surveys show that the farm with enough storage cellar space to take care of late vegetables and fruits is a rare and far-between exception. In fact, almost all farms incur losses which could be prevented by having simple, economical storage cellars. And these losses are not limited to crops actually lost for lack of space, but they include prominently decreased marketing revenues because the grower must sell certain crops which would bring higher returns if stored and marketed later. Of course, provision for adequate storage space to carry foods throughout late fall, winter and spring months for family use is a factor that involves health and general well being as well as material gains.

There are many types of inexpensive storage cellars suitable for farm use. These range from simple underground rooms dug from the side of a slope and covered with soil to more elaborate structures of concrete or masonry, either with roofs above the ground level or entirely beneath the surface. In many instances the type must be determined by location as well as by kinds and quantities of crops to be stored.

Two facts must be stressed in constructing all types of storage cellars—drainage and ventilation. If there is any danger of standing water at any time of the year, adequate drainage must be provided. This problem is not difficult where the dug-in cellar is located on a slope, but it is serious in many cases where the cellar floor is well below the surrounding ground level.

Proper ventilation is not only a matter of keeping fresh air in the room but it involves temperature control. To lower the room temperature, equipment must permit allowing hot air to escape and cooler outside air to come in; likewise the room temperature can be raised by opening ventilators to admit air when the outside temperature is higher than the room temperature.

To gain the temperature control ends, as well as to facilitate the prompt escape of surplus moisture released by newly stored crops, the cellar should have a ventilating outlet through the ceiling or roof, preferably at the rear of the room, and a similar intake through the floor at the opposite end or side of the room. Of course, both openings should be equipped with handy dampers to permit easy opening and closing.

If a roofed type of cellar is constructed with all or most of the roof above the ground level, the roof should be properly insulated. This is the common type built for potato storage in commercial growing regions. Walls should be made of concrete, brick or stone, especially in regions where termites are prevalent.

Dirt floors are satisfactory, although concrete floors are more sanitary. In any case bins, crates and other containers for fruits and vegetables stored in cellars should not rest flush on the floor. A super-floor of slats to permit circulation of air beneath the bins or containers is a sound investment.

Farmers will find much practical information on large-scale storage cellar construction in Farmers' Bulletin 1986—Potato Storage. Farmers' Bulletin 1939—Home Storage of Vegetables and Fruits contains a wealth of additional information on temperatures, humidity and other crop storage subjects. Both may be obtained without charge on request to a member of Congress.

McGee, McSherrystown, for their parts on the July 3 program; the parade judges, Senator Donald P. McPherson, Jr., George M. Zerfing, Carl Menchey, Lawrence Sheads and Col. John S. Rice.

Others Are Thanked

Others included: the commanding general of the Second Army for various army units sent here; the 9th air force for the jet planes and bombers; Middletown air base for display; Carlisle barracks for a contingent of military police; the 104th mechanized cavalry; Kuhn Auto Sales, Hanover, for use of the former McCauslin garage for temporary fire headquarters; Francis Groft and Herbert Oyler for electrical work; Service Supply company, Gettysburg Ice and Storage, Hotel Gettysburg, Cyrus Keefer (for truck), and others.

These individuals and organizations were given a rising vote of thanks.

Buy New Chairs

Raymond Menges reported that new folding chairs for the firemen's meeting room at the engine house had been purchased at a cost of $318.18, and had been delivered. Menges said arrangements had been made to refinish the floor and paint the walls. A rostrum with desks and chairs will also be constructed.

A set of photographs taken by the Lane Studio, Gettysburg, and Army photographers will be placed in an album as a permanent record of the anniversary celebration, it was voted. The army photographs were donated to the fire company by Col. McKenney.

A letter was read from the Adams County library requesting a contribution to its building fund. It was referred to a new donations committee authorized and appointed by Vice President Weaver. Members of the committee are: Mervin E. Crouse, John Fox and Donald McSherry.

Restrict Solicitations

Secretary C. David McCullough reported receipt of a check for $25 from Emory Seibert, near New Oxford, for services at a fire; $25 from Taneytown as a parade prize and $17.50 from Irishtown as a parade prize. (tie).

A resolution that no members of the fire company be allowed to solicit for funds other than for the fire company, from January 1 until after the annual block party, was adopted.

Firemen discussed the holding of uniforms by older members of the company who do not turn out for parades, and statements were made that several younger members who do not have uniforms would participate in parades and other functions if they had uniforms.

It was voted to have a list of all members who have uniforms posted at the engine house. A suggestion was made that new uniforms be ordered next Spring.

Accept Parade Invitations

"A lot of older members have their uniforms hanging in closets, while a number of younger members are willing to parade but do not have uniforms," Horace Bender declared. "The older men who do not use their uniforms should turn them in."

The firemen voted to participate in the firemen's parades Friday night at Emmitsburg; July 20 at Arcadia, Md.; August 3 at Thurmont, Md.; August 6 at Hampstead, Md., and September 5 at Fairfield.

Following the meeting a refreshment committee headed by Horace Bender served a fried chicken dinner.

The refreshment committee for the August 10 meeting, to be held at the Firemen's Retreat, was named by Vice President Weaver, as follows: Harold Culp, Stanley Sprankle, John Murray, Lester Oyler and Paul Fox.

SAYS SCOTT MAY YIELD GOP POST

Washington, July 14 (AP)—Senator Martin (R-Pa.) indicated today that Rep. Hugh Scott, Jr., will step down as Republican national chairman "if we get assurance an outstanding man will take his place."

Martin said, however, that he, Scott and other Pennsylvanians "are not going to be shoved around" by those who want someone else in the key GOP post.

"There is no use talking about

Scott moving out until we are sure that there is a top flight man to succeed him," Martin told a reporter.

But Martin added "It is a fair conclusion" that talks about a change have simmered down mainly to a question of who should succeed Scott, rather than whether there should be a new chairman.

"If we can get all the elements united on a successor, that will be the wise course to take," Martin declared.

Party leaders have been discussing the matter here and elsewhere for the last several days. After a conference here yesterday, those lead-

Truman's Sharp Attack On 'Selfish Interests' Reaps Criticism From Both Sides

PRESIDENT'S RADIO TALK DRAWS FIRE

By MARVIN L. ARROWSMITH
Washington, July 14 (AP)—President Truman's sharp attack on "selfish interests" urging drastic cuts in federal spending collided today with both Democratic and Republican criticism in Congress.

So did his assertion that many people would like to have a depression "for political reasons."

On the other hand, Senator Pepper (D-Fla.) called Mr. Truman's arguments "reasonable common-sense and full of practical justification."

The President spoke out last night in telling the nation about his new program designed to expand production and avert a more serious business slump. He went on both the radio and television.

"Not A Depression"

"We shall have to be sure," the President said, "that the selfish interests do not drive us into the ditch, as they have done before."

As he did in the economic report he sent to Congress last Monday, Mr. Truman said: "We are not in a depression. Many people who talk of a depression, he said, would like to have one 'for political reasons.'"

But he added that the increase in the number of people out of work "is something to worry about, and something that must be cured."

The President again hit into the Republican-ruled 80th Congress of 1947-48 for cutting income taxes. He criticized it, too, for refusing to enact the anti-inflation program he wanted then but now has abandoned because, he said, of changed conditions.

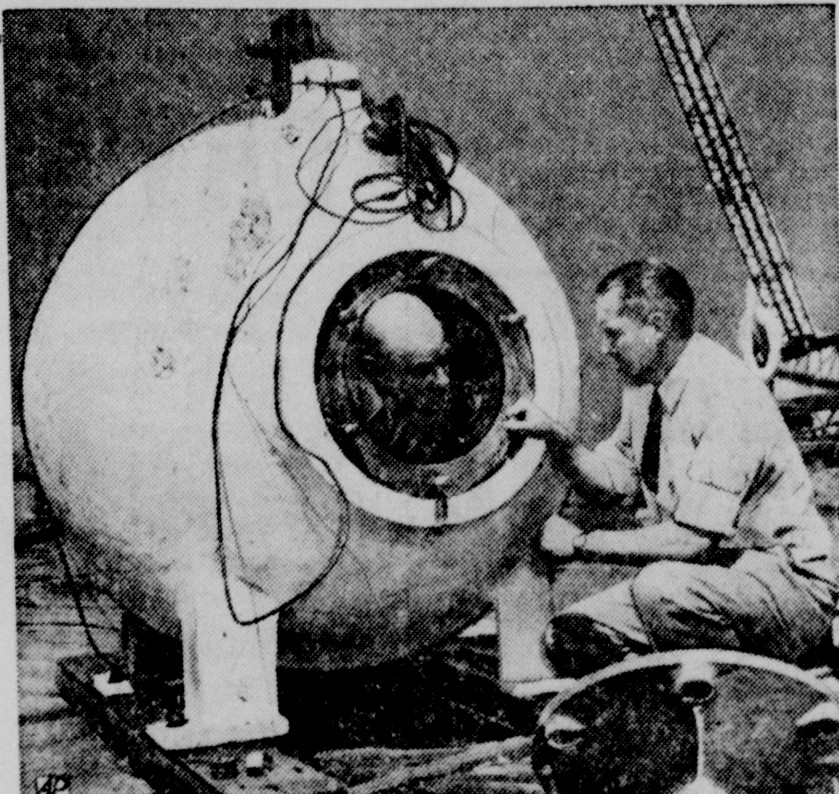

Attacks Economy Move

He called those policies blunders on the part of the 80th Congress, and he said "selfish interests" were to blame. Then he added:

"Now these same selfish interests are urging us to commit a third great blunder. They are now urging drastic cuts in government expenditures—cuts which would fall hardest on those expenditures which are most important to our domestic economy."

That was an obvious reference to the move in Congress to trim federal spending. In the Senate, for example, more than 60 senators—Democrats and Republicans—have signed a petition urging action on a resolution directing the President to cut appropriations for the current fiscal years by from five to 10 per cent.

Mr. Truman explained that he is dropping his request for a $4,000,000,000 tax increase because he does not want to "injure the economic health of the country." Indicating the alternative is red ink spending, he added:

TEST DIVING BELL—Otis Barton, who descended 3,928 feet in 1934, talks with Dr. Maurice Nelles, before testing the University of Southern California Benthoscope at Long Beach.

employment, cut down investment, weaken our defenses, and injure our efforts for peace."

Senator McClellan (D-Ark.), chief sponsor of the economy resolution, commented that there are certain contemplated expenditures for public works "that would of course stimulate our economy," but he added: "There are other savings that can and should be made, and it is the duty of the President and the Congress jointly to bring about such economies."

Senator Sparkman (D-Ala.), another signer of the economy petition, also took issue with Mr. Truman.

Joe Martin's Views

"If conditions remain as good as they are now, we must work to

SHORTAGE OF COMEDIANS IN SHOW BUSINESS

By HAL BOYLE
New York—"Wanted: One new top grade comedian. Potential salary—$1,000,000 a year."

No one has put an ad like that in the paper. But that's the situation today in show business. There's a crop shortage on Broadway and Radio row—a shortage of fresh new funny men.

"There's really a tremendous scarcity of comedians," said Irving Mansfield, CBS executive producer and originator of the "Talent Scout" program.

Rewards Are High

"All the old ones seem to be falling over themselves," he said. "They imitate each other so much you can hardly tell them apart any more. But who's coming along to take their places? Nobody's in sight."

Trying to build a little known jokester into a public favorite is no laughing matter. It's a big investment.

A network can easily spend $250,000 in an effort to popularize a new comedian," said Mansfield, "and end up with nothing but a lame gag artist—and no sponsor. But the rewards are high. A successful comedian can make $20,000 a week."

What explains the dearth of fresh comic talent? Mansfield thinks the decline of the old vaudeville circuits is the real answer.

Incubator Gone

"Vaudeville houses were great incubators of comics," he said. "There's no place left today for young comedians to try out their material, and they have to work with audiences to perfect themselves."

"A comedian doesn't need a great deal of personal originality to succeed. A writer can supply him with that. But he has to be able to sell his stuff to an audience. He has to learn timing—it's everything."

"Take Fred Allen, probably the best showman of our times. He has a perfect sense of timing, and he learned it in vaudeville."

Mansfield, who now produces "This Is Broadway," a CBS network program, has given some 500 to 600 young entertainers a year their first break on radio.

A Horrible Life

"I lead a horrible life," he said. "Midgets and mind readers run in and out of my office all day long. When I go into a restaurant somebody at the next table who wants to get on the air starts crooning at me over his soup. And on my way home magicians waylay me and want to show me how they can comb pigeons out of my hair."

But Mansfield has real sympathy for the ambitious and talented kids who come here full of high hopes that end in heartbreak.

"To be an actor or a quality performer you have to serve a real apprenticeship," he said. "The trouble with people who want a dramatic career is that they come to New York too early. They aren't ready. That accounts for a lot of the misery on Broadway."

Years of research pioneering guarantee LUCKIES ARE A FINER CIGARETTE!

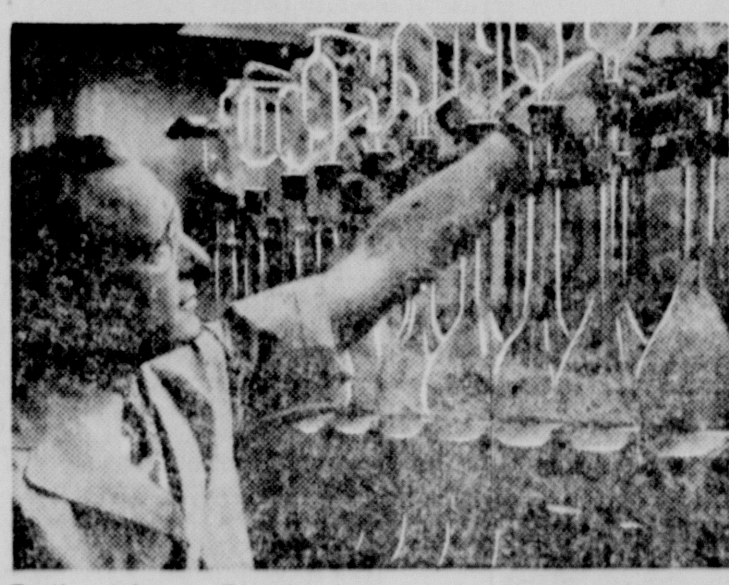

Constant research at Lucky Strike's famous cigarette laboratory—America's largest and most completely equipped—is devoted to giving you a finer cigarette!

THERE is no finer cigarette in the world today than Lucky Strike. Here's why: Lucky Strike means fine tobacco. And every step in the making of Luckies—from before this fine tobacco is bought until the finished cigarette reaches you—comes under the watchful eye of the largest and most completely equipped cigarette research laboratory in America.

For many years, the famous Lucky Strike laboratory in Richmond, Virginia, has been a center of cigarette science and technology. In this remarkable building you can see a fascinating collection of scientific instruments—microscopes, spectrophotometers, balances, projectors, humidification chambers, and many other complicated and costly machines.

Working with this array of scientific equipment are more than 60 highly trained specialists—chemists, biologists, engineers, physicists. They work on tobacco, on finished cigarettes, on paper, foil, cellophane and even printing inks. For Lucky Strike scientists have for years delved into cigarette research on an extensive scale.

Today, because of the miracle of modern science, Lucky Strike is a finer cigarette.

Testing tobacco. Samples from every tobacco-growing area are analyzed before and after purchase. These extensive scientific analyses, along with the expert judgment of Lucky Strike buyers, assure you that the tobacco in Luckies is fine, light and mild. No wonder Luckies are a finer cigarette.

Luckies stay fresh. After Lucky Strike cigarettes have been packaged, they must be tightly sealed to remain fresh. Here you see the cellophane seal being tested for air-tightness. Such instruments are in constant use at every plant.

Chapter 2

Do you, James, take Lorraine . . . Priscilla felt that her nerves would never let her go through this ceremony, hearing the sacred words, seeing two people's happiness. The wrong two people. Her mind found a safety-valve and began to go back over long-loved memories . . . the day she had first met Dennis in the place they afterward called Emerald Valley.

She had been only fourteen then, tall for her age. Chin in hand, she fell to watching the children at play there . . . and to dreaming. A boy's voice startled her.

"Why can't we talk?" He stood there looking down at her and smiling. "I came here to study," he explained, indicating the huge book under his arm. "but I saw you—and now I can't concentrate."

Priscilla burst out laughing in spite of her mother's admonitions against permitting strange boys to speak to her. She stared at the book he carried. "What on earth could that big book be about?"

The boy seated himself lengthily beside her on the ground. "I'm a law student at the University," he said, nodding toward the campus which was only a short distance away. He spoke with a shy whimsicality that attracted Priscilla immediately.

Though Dennis was only twenty-two at that time, to the fourteen-year-old Priscilla he seemed as old as her father. He knew so many interesting things. For an entire year they met regularly in Emerald Valley and, when the weather became cold, at Priscilla's home. It wasn't until the April Priscilla was sixteen that they spoke of love. It was the beginning of something for both of them—something which should have meant their two lives together . . .

Everything, it seemed, happened to Priscilla in April. And it was in April he had come to Riverdale to say goodbye to his girl, to Priscilla. For a long time they walked that day beside the brook, their arms entwined, their hearts as one. They talked of many things. They planned their wedding. It was to take place the minute Dennis was back and out of the Army, no matter what time that happened to be . . .

I any man among you, droned the minister, can show just cause why these two should not be joined together . . . Priscilla looked up quickly—and looked into two of the darkest, most daring eyes she had ever seen. He must have been staring at her during the entire ceremony.

As the wedding guests crowded around James and Lorraine, the male contingent clamoring politely to kiss the bride, Priscilla saw one of James' guests walking toward her. Lumbering might have been the word, except that, for all his height and build, he moved with a fair amount of grace. It was the owner of the daring eyes who came over to her. He did not wait for an introduction.

"I'd rather kiss the bridesmaid than the bride," he announced and, to Priscilla's shock, boldly did so. "No one," she stated flatly to the possessor of the broad shoulders, "is supposed to kiss the bridesmaid."

"I wanted to," he said simply. He wanted to, she thought furiously. He was taking her by the arm over to an unoccupied studio couch, and she followed where he led. Anything! Anything to keep the other guests from noticing.

"Do you," she asked coldly, "always follow your impulses that way?" He grinned at her in a way that was hard to resist, hard to freeze out.

"Depends on what you mean by 'that way,'" he told her. "Sometimes I'm slower. Sometimes I even wait long enough to be introduced." Priscilla could not keep from smiling. She had never met such audacity before.

"You're Priscilla Hayden, ain't ya?" he was asking, and Priscilla grinned inside herself to hear that "ain't ya?" She was thinking about her mother's social aspirations and how they had already come into conflict with James' half-fellow-well-met predilections.

"Yes, I'm Priscilla Hayden," she murmured, her mind still on her mother. She had located her mother now, standing with a girl and a man. The man was speaking and Mrs. Hayden was biting her lip. Priscilla wondered whether he was saying "Ain't ya?" She laughed to herself.

She brought her attention back to the man beside her. He was telling her with an air of importance that he was Kenneth Kent and that he had a job driving a truck for the same company James . . .

"How nice," said Priscilla pleasantly. "You drive a truck where he drives a pen! I'll bet on you. You have the weightier weapon." She found herself talking easily to this Kenneth Kent. He was gay. True, in the time they talked, he never said anything significant or profound, as Dennis sometimes did, but it was fun talking with him.

They did other things beside just talk. The joined with the other guests in chasing James and Lorraine, when it was discovered that the newlyweds were sneaking out the back door. Priscilla and Kenneth hung rice with that sadistic abandon that characterizes riceflinging at a successful wedding. They, and the other guests, returned, flushed and laughing, to the house when the young couple had at last managed to start on their wedding trip, a "Just Married" sign flapping against the back of the car.

Priscilla walked to the front door with Kenneth when he left. "I . . . I hope I'll see you again," he stammered. That was the engaging part about the man, Priscilla thought. One minute bold as an eagle, and the next minute shy as a fawn.

"Are you an eagle or a fawn?" she asked mischievously. "Wait a minute," said Kenneth. "I'm not so much of a mouse that I'm not gonna ask you for a date next Saturday night. How about it?"

She turned her face up to Kenneth slowly, her lips curving, smiling at him. There was a devil in her eyes that matched the dare-devil in his. She was daring him. "Come on," said her devil, "take me out Saturday night. Let's see what you have to offer and how far you can get with it."

"Saturday night?" said Priscilla aloud. "Sure. Why not?"

Chapter 3

When Kenneth left, Priscilla found herself wondering what had come over her. Could it be that his he-man physique and brawny good looks had outweighed his faults? There was something about Kenneth that pulled her toward him. Did he possess a personal magnetism such as had drawn her to Dennis? Priscilla did not think so and yet . . .

She viewed the approach of Saturday night with conflicting thoughts. At times she felt a certain thrill at the prospect of seeing Kenneth again; at times she was definitely frightened at the thought of being alone with him—afraid, not of him, but of her own weakness.

Finally the time arrived and a little, antiquated open car drove up to the curb. Kenneth vaulted lightly over the door and ran up the steps. Priscilla came out on the porch to meet him.

"Hi-ya, Babes," he called uncereemoniously. "I see you're all ready."

"Yes," answered Priscilla. "I'm usually prompt." When they reached the car he picked Priscilla up carefully, as if she were a small child, and lifted her over the door, onto the seat.

"Doors don't open," he laughed, bounding to the other side and jumping in beside her.

"Where would you like to go?" he asked, not the least bit out of breath.

"Well," said Priscilla, as soon as she had regained her dignity, "it looks as though I'd go wherever you decide to take me."

"I don't dance," said Kenneth. "A movie, a bite to eat, and a ride—that's the usual thing. How 'bout it?"

"We can go to the movie, anyway."

To her surprise, Kenneth didn't even try to take her hand in the movies. The picture was a comedy and they laughed together at the ludicrous situations.

"If I could only get him to stop saying 'ain't' and teach him some grammar, he'd be all right," thought Priscilla. "He's just a little over-vigorous, that's all. I'll have to take him in hand."

When they left the movies Priscilla noticed that girls actually turned around and stared at Kenneth.

"He is handsome!" she thought as she took his arm proudly and walked with him to the delicatessen shop. They had sandwiches and beer and then Kenneth suggested a ride.

"The evening wouldn't be complete without it," he said. "Besides, we can't disappoint 'Betsy.'"

"Pris, when I looked at you the other night I thought you was the prettiest girl I'd ever seen," said Kenneth above the jerky noise of Betsy's motor.

"Am I to infer that you've changed your mind?" asked Priscilla pertly. "You suit me, just as you are," he said, putting his arm around her shoulder. "You're a fine, sturdy type. I don't like skinny girls. It's a wonder you haven't been snapped up already."

They had reached the open road and Kenneth turned up a side lane, bringing the car to a stop. He seemed to be a rapid worker. She wasn't so sure, out here alone with him, that she was in control of the situation. She decided to adopt a matter-of-fact, unromantic tone.

"Kenneth, would you be hurt if I corrected your English?" she asked.

"No, Babes, go right to it. I guess I need it. I didn't have much schoolin'." He cleared his throat self-consciously. "I know this is gonna sound funny when you look at me, strong and husky but when I was little I was sorta delicate. Mom took me outa school early."

"I like you, Ken," she said with sincerity. "I'd love to help you get the education you've missed."

"Do you mean that, honey?" he asked. And before she could answer, he drew her quickly to him. Without the least ceremony he pressed his lips against hers in a long, ardent kiss.

Never had anyone kissed her like that before. It stirred her emotions so deeply she was frightened. Was this what she wanted? "Take me home, Kenneth," she said in sudden terror. "It's getting late."

"I'm sorry, Priscilla. I hope you ain't—I mean aren't sore, but I just couldn't help it after what you said. Lemme see you tomorrow, huh?"

"No, Kenneth, not tomorrow. I have an appointment. In fact, I'll be busy all week." She found herself fighting a desire to see him again tomorrow.

Actress Virginia Mayo is helped ashore after she lost her swim suit in the surf at Malibu Beach, Calif. A wave hit the blonde screen beauty and reeched with her scanty one-piece suit. Audrey Kirschbaum (right), a friend, was standing near and supplied a big bath towel. The third person on the beach was the amateur photographer who made this picture. (AP Wirephoto)

9 Drum And Bugle Corps To Compete

Hershey, Pa., July 14 (P)—Four state champion senior drum and bugle corps are among the nine entries competing for the eastern states title here Saturday night.

New York and Maryland will have their American Legion championship corps while both the Pennsylvania Legion and the VFW winners will be on hand.

Chief threat to the title is the "Jersey Joes" from New Jersey who hold the 1948-49 national American Legion championship.

River Explorers Leave Otsego Today

Otsego, N. Y., July 14 (P)—A seven-man party, collecting data and photographs for the National Geographic magazine, set out today on the third leg of their 440-mile canoe trip down the Susquehanna river.

The party, traveling in three canoes, arrived here yesterday afternoon from Oneonta, N. Y. Today's destination was Unadilla, 20 miles southwest of Otsego.

The party is in charge of Ralph Gray and Walter M. Edwards, staff members of the magazine from Washington, D. C. The journey to where the river flows into the Chesapeake Bay is expected to take about six weeks.

TO EXPAND PLANT Philadelphia, July 14 (P)—SKE Industries, Inc., will expand its Shippensburg, Pa., plant to provide additional facilities for manufacture of anti-friction bearing retainers. The company announced yesterday that the new additions will enable the plant to produce 50 to 85 per cent of the retainers used by the ball and roller bearing firm.

About 88 per cent of all the coal mined in the United States comes from Pennsylvania, Ohio, Indiana, Illinois, Virginia, West Virginia and Kentucky.

Littlestown HIGH WATERS CHASE SCOUTS OUT OF CAMP

Littlestown—Littlestown Boy Scout Troop No. 84 found it necessary to vacate their camp at Natural dam about 9 p. m. Tuesday, when the rising waters as a result of the heavy rains endangered the lives of the boys. One of their tents was flooded and the water rose to the doors of the other tents. Scoutmaster Alton Bowers, James Bowers and Harry and Charles Badders remained at the camp over-night on Tuesday to guard the equipment.

The boys returned to their respective homes, but with the receding of the waters on Wednesday, many of the scouts returned to camp and will remain there the balance of the week.

The Littlestown Chapter of the Military Order of the Purple Heart, which was instituted at its first monthly meeting June 10 in the POS of a hall, will hold its second monthly meeting Friday, July 15, at 8 p. m. in the VFW post home, West King street.

Firemen To March
Members of the Alpha Fire Company No. 1 who expect to participate in the fireman's parade at Emmitsburg on Friday evening are asked to meet at the Alpha Fire hall Friday at 6 p. m.

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Hanling, Jr., son William and daughter Jane, Greensboro, N. C., arrived at the home of Mrs. Hanling's parents, the Rev. and Mrs. Samuel W. Beck, East King street, after several days' visit with Mrs. Hanling's brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. George Schaeffer at Rehoboth Beach, Del. Mr. Hanling left for Philadelphia on Wednesday to spend several days with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Hanling, Sr. Mrs. Hanling, who was the former Lois Beck and children will spend several days at the Beck home.

Mr. and Mrs. Allen Weikert and daughter, Kathryn Ann, moved on Wednesday from Two Taverns to the second floor apartment of their recently purchased home on East King street. Their new home is the former William Sealey property which was purchased from Mr. and Mrs. Paul E. King.

Game Postponed
The Rev. and Mrs. John Kammerer and daughters, Mary Catherine and Margaret Elaine, Boiling Springs, spent Wednesday with the former's parents, the Rev. and Mrs. David S. Kammerer, West King street. The Rev. and Mrs. John Kammerer went to Philadelphia from Littlestown and their children will spend several days with their grandparents.

The Junior Fellowship and Mrs. Crist's Sunday school class of Centenary Methodist church will hold a swimming party and picnic on Saturday afternoon. Transportation will be provided and the members of both groups are asked to be at the church at 1:30 p. m.

The Penn Maryland game between Emmitsburg and Littlestown at Littlestown could not be played Wednesday night because of wet grounds. It will be played next Tuesday evening at Littlestown at 8:45 p. m.

VFW Meets
Commander John Bloom was in charge of the semi-monthly meeting of the Mason and Dixon Memorial Post No. 6954, VFW, at the post home, West King street, on Tuesday evening. Reports were given on the state encampment held last week at Philadelphia by delegates Kenneth Sparver, Lawrence Dooley and Edgar Wistozky.

There was a lengthy discussion on the possibility of forming a drum and bugle corps. It was voted to organize such a unit, providing a sufficient number of the members are interested. Noah Brown will be in charge. There will be a meeting for this purpose on Monday evening at 8 o'clock in the post home. Those who are interested and unable to be present on Monday evening are asked to either inform Brown or else leave word at the post home.

It was announced that plans have been completed for the V-J Day dance at Basehoar's on Friday, August 19. Further plans were made for the stag picnic for the post and home association members to be held July 31. Lawrence Dooley reported on the progress of the purchase of equipment for the color and firing squads. The next meeting will be held Tuesday, July 26.

POPE PIUS TO EXCOMMUNICATE RED CATHOLICS

By PHILIP CLARKE
Vatican City, July 14 (AP)—Pope Pius XII has ordered major excommunication of all militant Communists who also are Catholics. The sweeping decree would deny them the sacraments and comforts of the church.

The momentous order applies to all members of the Roman Catholic faith "who make profession of the materialistic and anti-Christian doctrine of the Communists."

It was announced in an historic decree of the Sacred Congregation of the Holy Office and approved by the pontiff.

The decree marks the fourth time the Pope has used excommunication to fight back at the Communists in recent years.

Called "Last Warning"

Previous decrees had been directed at those who tried and sentenced Archbishop Alojzije Stepinac in Yugoslavia in 1946, at those responsible for the imprisonment of Hungary's Josef Cardinal Mindszenty, and at the founders and willing members of a separatist, government-controlled Catholic Action society in Czechoslovakia.

Informed Vatican sources interpreted the decree's wording to be in effect a last warning to Catholics who still defend or follow Communism. It applies the church's major weapon of discipline to members who might be wavering under Red pressure.

According to a recent unofficial estimate there are some 330,000,000 Catholics in the world.

The decree announced the church's decision that "Christian

NCCW To Meet In Steelton In 1950

Shamokin, Pa. July 14 (AP)—The 1950 convocation of the Harrisburg diocesan council, National Council of Catholic Women, will be held in Steelton.

More than 1,000 delegates to the faithful who make professions of the materialistic and anti-Christian doctrine of the Communists, and, in the first place, those who defend it (Communist doctrine), propagate it, incur, ipso facto x x x the excommunication reserved especially to the Apostolic See."

U.S. HOLDING BREATH AGAIN ABOUT STEEL

Washington, July 14 (AP) — Once more in a deeply serious moment of its history the nation holds its breath as two giants, the steelworkers and the steel industry, get braced for struggle.

Turn back the pages of the history book a moment.

It was a cold, gray, snowy day. The striking steelworkers set up their picket lines and began their endless, slow, shuffling, circling around.

They had built small fires near their line of march around the gates of the steel mills at Pittsburgh. Every once in a while a picket dropped out of line to warm his hands and bones by a fire.

Steel Is Backbone

The day was Jan. 21, 1946. It was the first day, the start, of the big postwar steel strike. I was there and saw it begin. The whole nation was watching.

At the time, I wrote that this might be the start of a tragic chapter in American history, for America at that moment was trying to recover to peace.

Steel was then, and is now, the heart and backbone of the American economy. Steel was basic, it was needed everywhere to get the country going on the high road to great peacetime prosperity.

But a steel strike, if it lasted long, could push the whole economy into a stumbling, staggering downhill gait and for a very simple reason that anyone could understand:

Lasted A Month

Since steel was basic in all kinds of industries — building, autos, washing machines, any number of industries — they'd have to shut down for lack of steel if the strike was long.

And that would have meant

David Selznick And Jennifer Jones Wed

Portofino, Italy, July 14 (AP) — The mayor of Portofino announced actress Jennifer Jones and movie director David Selznick were married aboard the yacht "Manona" Wednesday.

The ceremony took place at 8:30 a. m. (2:30 a. m., EST) while the spreading unemployment at a time when it was vital for the country to get people into jobs, to swing over smoothly from war to peace.

In short, a long steel strike would have crushed recovery in a thousand ways.

Bad Moment Now

The strike lasted a month, not long enough to throw the whole country out of whack. The men went back into the mills and American prosperity began its climb to the highest peak in history.

Now, once more, the nation is faced with a giant steel strike and once more the danger comes at a moment which might be critical, for now the American economy has begun to slide down hill.

Only three days ago President Truman and his council of economic advisers reported that the economy is slipping, that unemployment has increased to around 4,000,000, or double what it was a year ago.

High Stakes

Further, the economists look for things to get worse before they get better. They seem to think they will get better if —

There's more business investment, more business expansion, more employment, which means more people with money to spend.

But a steel strike, coming at such a serious time, would have just the opposite effect.

The strikers alone would mean about another 1,000,000 unemployed. If the strike comes, and lasts long, thousands upon thousands of other men will be thrown into idleness when their companies, which depend on steel, shut down because they can't get it.

TO BE PLENTY OF TURKEYS AT THANKSGIVING

Harrisburg, July 14 (AP) — It's still four months to Thanksgiving Day but the state Agriculture Department today predicted a large supply of turkeys for holiday dinners. At the same time, the department said Pennsylvania dairy cows produced $40,000,000 pounds of milk during June to tie the all-time record. However, the figures were seven per cent below May.

The monthly chicken and egg report released today, said production of poultry has been much above normal. Earlier reports of farmers intending to raise turkeys indicated a crop of 1,441,000, only 19,000 under the all-time record of 1,460,000 raised in the war year of 1945.

Fewer Layers

Chicken egg production for June was 241,000,000, 18 per cent below May and eight per cent below June, 1948.

Fewer layers in farm flocks and a relatively low rate of production per layer contributed to the decline in egg production, the department said. June's hot weather was unfavorable for egg production.

On the dairy front, the department said increased numbers of milk cows on farms, estimated at 965,000 made possible the equalling of the June record.

Pennsylvania milk production for the first six months of 1949 totaled 2,931,000,000 pounds compared with 2,799,000,000 for the same period last year. Prices paid by farmers for mixed dairy feed on June 15 averaged $3.65 per hundred pounds, a drop of 20 cents from the previous month.

The largest single iron mine in the world is the Hull-Rust-Mahoning open pit mine in Minnesota, is 3½ miles long, one-half to one mile wide, and covers 1,275 acres.

PACIFIC UNION MAY BE USED TO STEM RED SURGE

JAMES D. WHITE
(AP Foreign Affairs Analyst)
(For Dewitt Mackenzie)

As the cold war grips east Asia, it is only natural that political leaders there should get together on how to stop the spread of Communism.

This is one reason, but by no means the only reason, that the "retired" Generalissimo of China, Chiang Kai-shek, and President Elpidio Quirino of the Philippines have met and agreed to form an anti-Communist union of countries in the western Pacific. It could serve a variety of other purposes.

It is far short of the Pacific pact Quirino and others called for last winter when the Atlantic pact was announced. It does not mention the military aid necessary to give it teeth, but could set up an organization capable of being converted to handle such aid if and when the United States gets around to it.

Called "Premature"

President Syngman Rhee of southern Korea already has said "Korea stands ready to join." While he was saying this, his envoy to the United Nations was asking permission to raise the southern Korean armed force from 100,000 to 400,000 men.

In Washington, the State department says it views such movements as the proposed Pacific union "with sympathy," but stands on Secretary Acheson's earlier statement that a Pacific pact at this time would be premature.

Getting the United States as a member is a prime objective of the union. Australia, New Zealand, Siam, Indonesia, and Burma also will be

New Oxford

New Oxford—To further carry out the system of "city mail delivery" which was inaugurated here last spring, letter deposit boxes have been erected in town. Within the past few months, all houses in town have been numbered and most householders have put up mailboxes or slots so that mail can be de-sought as members.

Japan is not considered eligible now, being technically at war with all the proposed members. Gen. MacArthur has said nothing publicly either to encourage or discourage the idea of the union. However Japan is the scene of growing Communist activity. The supreme commander is a personal friend of Quirino and recently took occasion, according to one correspondent, to send private greetings to Chiang just before Chiang went to the Philippines to confer with Quirino.

Canton Encouraged

A dispatch to the Associated Press from Hongkong indicates that Chiang may be promoting the Pacific union from his "retirement" as another way of prolonging his refugee government in Canton as the recognized government of Nationalist China.

This dispatch, quoting competent but not otherwise identified observers, says the news already has given Canton a "shot in the arm."

Only three possible leaders for any pan-Asiatic non-Communist movement have been mentioned—India's Prime Minister Nehru, Chiang, and Quirino.

If Chiang and Quirino have teamed up to lead the field, one reason is that Chiang sees the Pacific union as a chance to keep his regime in Canton going.

The initiative Quirino has taken as an Asiatic leader may help his position in a tight domestic political situation.

livered to their homes.

The newly married Pic and Mrs. Philip Aumen have left for North Carolina where they have begun housekeeping at Fayetteville while the bridegroom, a son of Mr. and Mrs. Bernard F. Aumen, Sr., near town, is stationed at nearby Fort Bragg. They were married July 2 at the Immaculate Conception Catholic church. Mrs. Philip Aumen is the former Miss Margaret Harman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Harman, near town.

Miss Anna D. Hoyer, east of town, who conducted an exhibition of her large and rare collection of all types of dolls in mid-June at her home, reported recently that the amount received by voluntary contribution from visitors to the exhibit was $39.57, all of which was donated by Miss Hoyer to the American Cancer society.

The Rev. Paul J. Aumen, a son of Mr. and Mrs. Bernard F. Aumen, Sr., near town, who was ordained in March as a Roman Catholic priest of the Order of the Precious Blood, at Carthage, O., and who has been stationed since then at Wapakoneta, O., has returned there after a visit with his parents and their family. During his stay, Father Aumen celebrated mass at the local Catholic church and also officiated at the marriage of his younger brother, Philip, to Miss Margaret Harman.

A. Wayne Kessel, who was a partner in the now dissolved auto sales firm of Kessel and Storm, first operating here and then in Hanover, is now in charge of a used car business of his own in Hanover.

The annual three-night carnival of the local fire company was conducted Thursday, Friday and Saturday evenings of the past week. The firemen's ladies' auxiliary assisted in the preparation and serving of the refreshments, the sale of which was a major feature of the entertainment, along with music by the Buckboard Ramblers, the Brodbeck band and the local high school band.

Mrs. J. R. Hamm entertained the Women's Missionary society of the First Lutheran church during the week at her home with Mrs. Merrill A. Yohe acting as her co-hostess.

Several local factories resumed their operations on Monday morning after the regular summer vacation granted employees for the week beginning with the Fourth of July week-end.

Mr. and Mrs. Gover Clouser, Miss Doris Auchey and Roland Clouser, all of this area, were among the large number of relatives and friends attending the recent reception after the wedding of Miss Mary Alice Clouser, Hanover, to Lynville Seabrook, also of that city. Mrs. Rowlen L. Huffman entertained fellow members of the Mite society of St. Paul's Reformed church during the week at her home.

George E. Smeltz, Jr., has arrived in the Pocono Mountains where he recently accepted a position at the Stroudsburg Vacation club. The young man is a graduate of the local high school.

The James Parks family moved recently from Abbottstown to the property near here owned by Dr. Allen W. Kelly.

Unceasing War on a World of Killers

★ Leeuwenhoek, in 1683, was the first to disturb the privacy of the teeming bustle of the unseen world. The "wretched wee beasties" cavorting innocently under his lens were later indicted and convicted by Koch and Pasteur. Unbeknown to Leeuwenhoek, he had discovered a vicious and unseen world of killers, now known as bacteria, or germs.

The span of time between Leeuwenhoek and Pasteur was almost 200 years. Only an average lifetime has passed since Pasteur's experiments, during which practically all we know about disease and its treatment has been discovered. Our knowledge is expanding at an ever-increasing rate. The pharmacist works with the physician in bringing newer and better medication into the sickroom.
